

INTERVIEW SUMMARY

On October 18, 2007, a personal interview with the Examiner was held. In general, Applicant discussed how semiconductor memory is different from disk memory and that those differences made the present invention advantageous and distinctive over the prior art. Applicant agreed to amend the claims to add more details about the interconnect that more particularly point out the differences of the present invention.